CONTENTS

Restricting access to the internet by sex offenders 165
Alisdair A. Gillespie

Contracts for clouds: comparison and analysis of the Terms and Conditions of cloud computing services 187
Simon Bradshaw, Christopher Millard, and Ian Walden

Towards new recognition of liability in the digital world: should we be more creative? 224
Emad Abdel Rahim Dahiyat

A legal method for solving issues of Internet regulation 243
Dan Svantesson

Bela Bonita Chatterjee
The Editorial Board acknowledges the support of the Society for Computers and Law, on whose initiative the journal was founded.

Aims and Scope

The International Journal of Law and Information Technology publishes articles on the application of computer technology to the law and also looks at Information and Communications Technology and Cyberspace law. Contributions that bring together these fields will be particularly welcome.

Submission

Papers may be submitted online through Scholar One Manuscripts. Full submission instructions can be found at http://www.oxfordjournals.org/our_journals/inttec/for_authors/submission_online.html. Authors will be notified as soon as possible of the Editors’ decision on the acceptability of their paper. The General Editors, Managing Editor and Regional Editors will be happy to advise in advance on the suitability of a synopsis of the proposed article.

Preparation

Manuscript files should be submitted in Microsoft Word or rtf format. They should include the author’s details, including title and job description and affiliations as these are to appear in the Journal; address, telephone, fax and E-mail details. Each paper should contain an Abstract no longer than 150 words. When the files are ready, please follow the Online Submission Instructions at: http://www.oxfordjournals.org/our_journals/inttec/for_authors/submission_online.html

Style Requirements

Single rather than double quotation marks should be used. Names of cases should appear in italics with the full reference as a footnote if the case name appears in the text. Journal articles should be cited as follows:

Books should be cited as:

Headings should appear as follows:

1 Main heading
   1.1 Sub-heading

Footnotes and References

Footnotes should be numbered consecutively and should not be embedded within the text. References should be included in the footnotes. Authors are responsible for checking the accuracy of all footnotes and references.

Proofs

Authors will receive proofs of their article for correction. No major changes are permissible at this stage and alterations should be limited to typographical errors only. Authors should return corrected proofs to the Publisher within 48 hours of receipt.

Copyright

It is a condition of publication in the Journal that authors assign an exclusive licence to Oxford University Press. This ensures that requests from third parties to reproduce articles are handled efficiently and consistently and will allow the article to be as widely disseminated as possible. As part of the licence agreement, Authors may use their own material in other publications provided that the Journal is acknowledged as the original place of publication and Oxford University Press as the Publisher.